

Manolson, Robert

“Enthusiastically Positive”

passion, devotion or eagerness; displaying certainty, acceptance, or affirmation

Powerful Play Experiences is unfolding in new and exciting directions. Still, I'm honoured and touched that people intentionally choose my business to begin the process of initiating awesome changes with their team to shape team success. And they understand the premise to my business - FUN AT WORK!!

I launched my business with experience in helping individuals and teams create positive change while having fun doing it. Very quickly, I became the “Play Guy”, facilitating workshops based on cooperative play. Two years later, I then became the “Fun at Work Guy”, inspiring workplace teams to have more fun at work. Five years into my business, fun at work continues to inspire all who play with me but my business has evolved. People all across Alberta recognize me as the “Team Building Guy.”

I get a business “buzz” the moment a potential client contacts me. It all begins with articulating the outcome the client wants from a workshop – their “take-away.” I then build a powerful play experience around that “take-away.” Yet you never truly know exactly how the experience will play out. It takes a leap of faith from the client to accept that uncertainty but I assure them that at the end of the workshop it's really all about a smile on everyone's faces and that their outcome will be achieved.

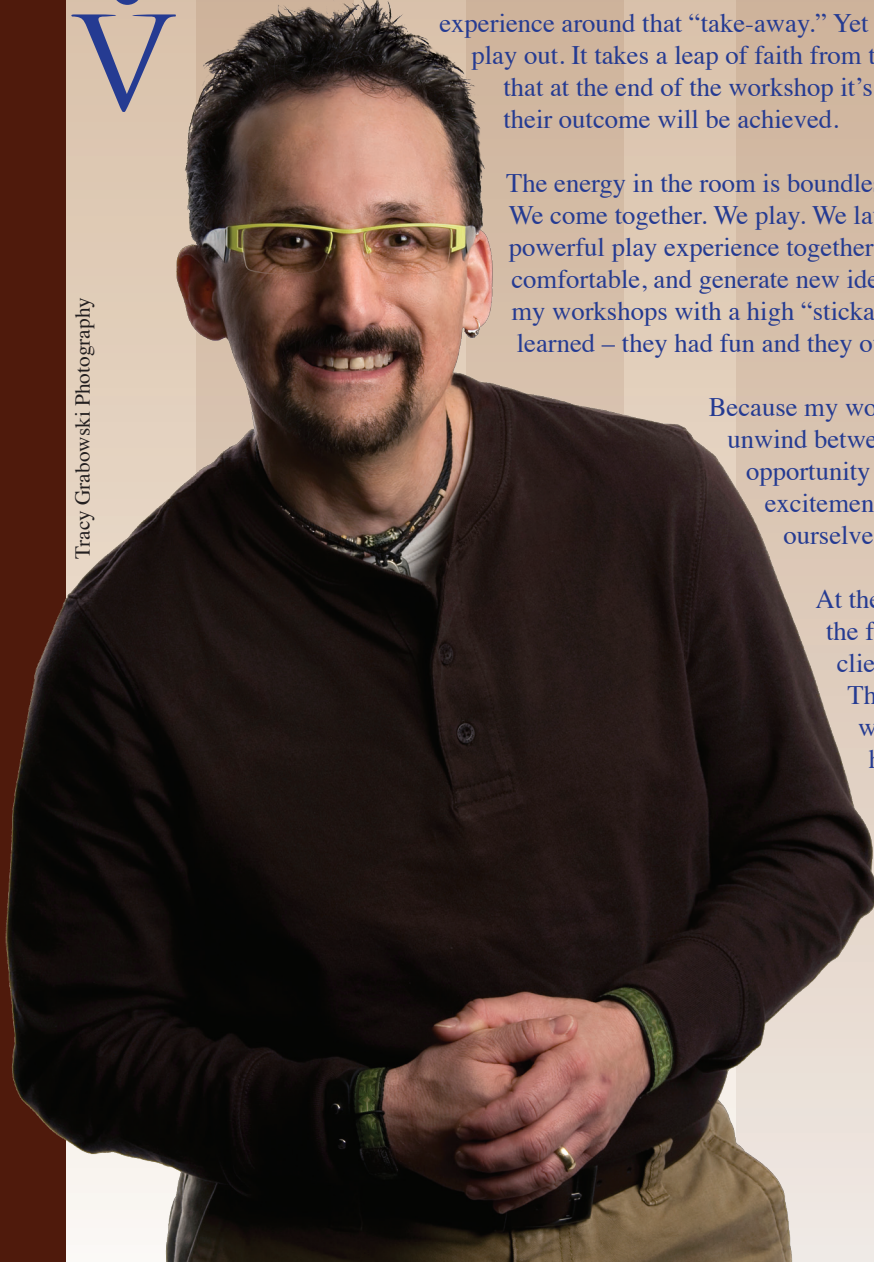

The energy in the room is boundless. Laughter and joy fill the air. Smiles are abundant. We come together. We play. We laugh and have fun. We get results. Through a powerful play experience together, we put the issues on the table, play with them, get comfortable, and generate new ideas and team solutions. Everyone walks away from my workshops with a high “stickability” factor – they remember and apply what they learned – they had fun and they own the results.

Because my work is so high energy, I need to relax, recharge and unwind between workshops. My wife, Sharon, affords me the opportunity to do just that. The process of bringing energy and excitement to my workshops happens because we both give ourselves permission to relax at home and in our relationship.

At the end of the day, it's all about the people I help and the fun I have doing it. When I read the feedback from my clients, I definitely know that I'm in the right business. This particular comment reminds me of why I love my work: “On a cold winter day, you brought warmth. You have a natural gift of bringing a team together in a magical way, without stealing the stage.”

Tracy Grabowski Photography

Robert Manolson BA, CCDP
Certified Career Development
Professional Creator & Facilitator
Powerful Play Experiences

Edmonton, Alberta
Office: 780.929.5949 Cell: 780.297.4103
robert@powerfulplay.ca
www.powerfulplayexperiences.ca
www.albertaspeakers.com
www.edmontonspeakers.com